

Leading and learning through transformation

Kate Stevens, Director of Strategy
Macmillan Cancer Support

An introduction to Macmillan

The opportunity for Macmillan

- Improvements in treatment and diagnosis
- People with cancer living for longer
- Rapid breakthroughs in care and technology
- Better understanding and access to richer data

The unmet needs of people with cancer

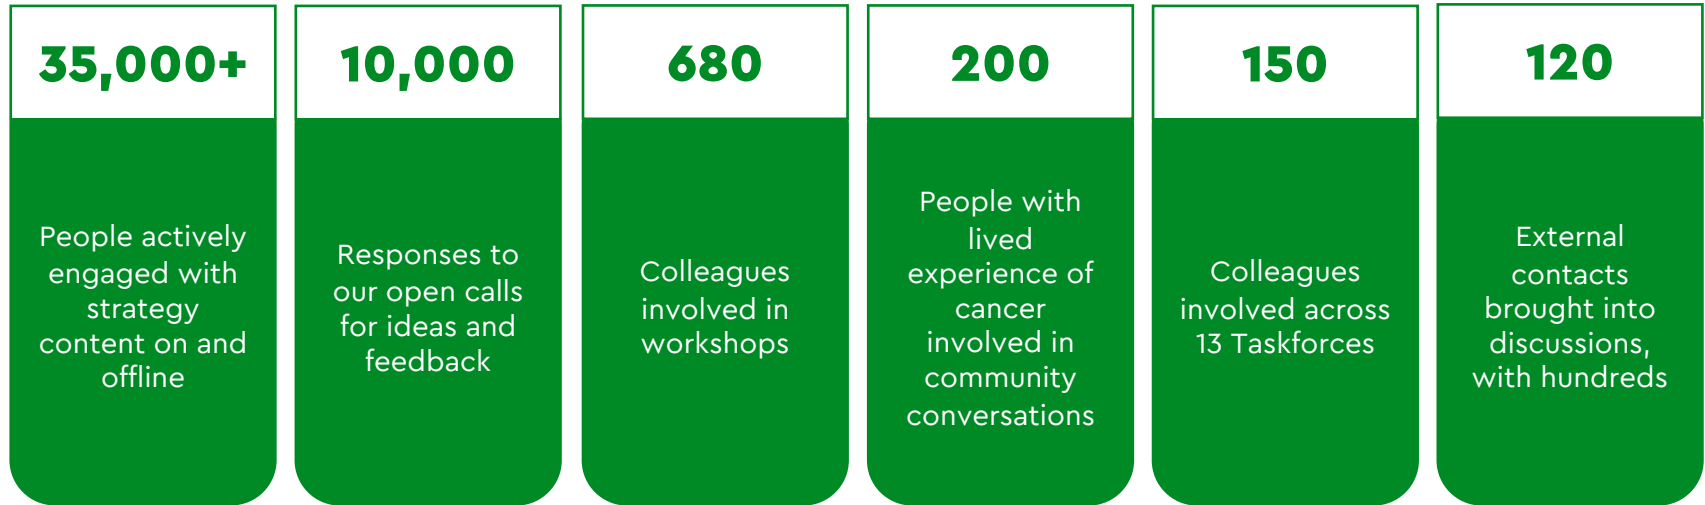

- People living longer, but not living better
- Severe NHS and cancer workforce pressures
- Widespread delays to cancer treatment
- Health inequities
- Tough economic environment

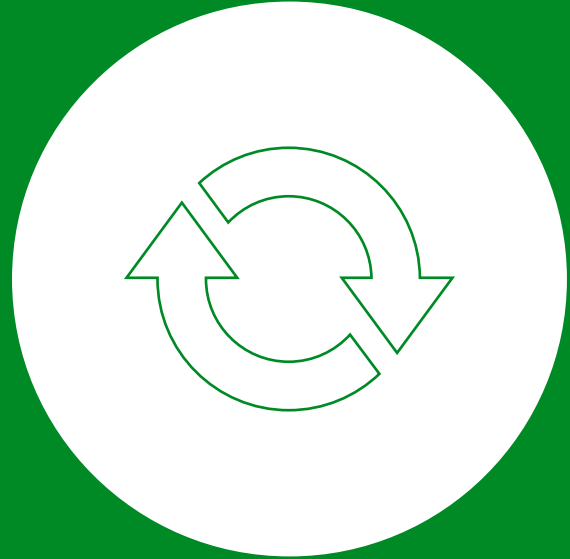

Leading and learning through transformation

Our collaboration journey

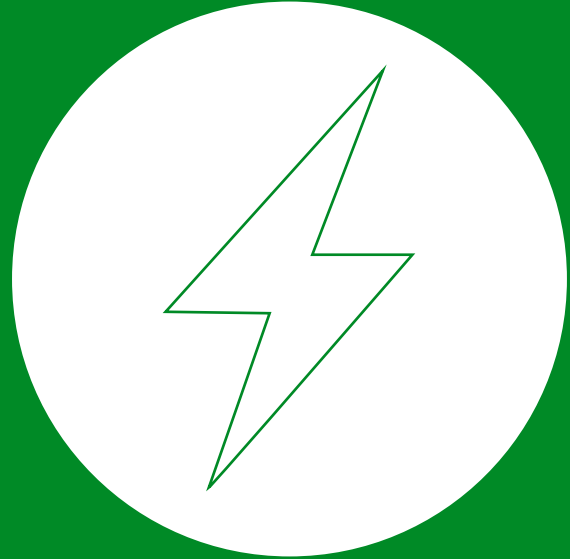

We've involved many people – from within and beyond Macmillan.

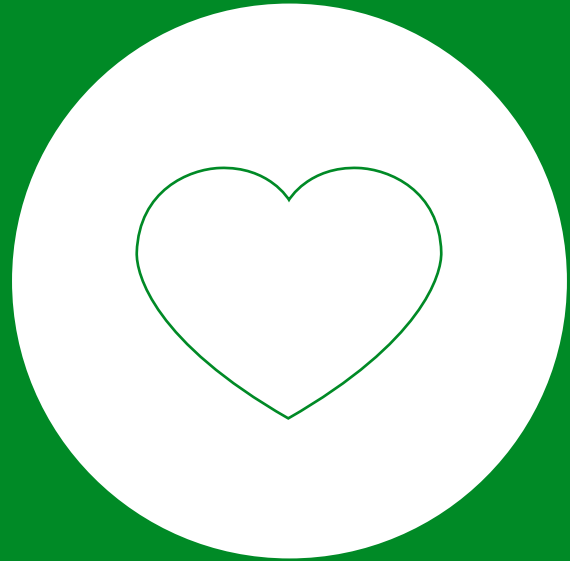

Collaborate with intention

Seek out hard truths

Be brave

Be humble

'eager and earnest, though hopelessly lacking in qualifications, and influence [...] something of a voice in the wilderness - and a voice that was not unheard'

Thank you
Any questions?